Sheepscombe News

Sheepscombe News is published monthly under the aegis of the Sheepscombe Society. The magazine chiefly reports village events, the activities of clubs and societies and news of the school and churches.

Original writing from contributors, young and old, is particularly welcome, as are articles which stimulate interest in any aspects of village life, our antecedents and the local environment. Individual initiatives for the benefit of the community can also be mooted in the pages of the News, but concerns (for instance about local services) are best dealt with by direct reference to the appropriate authority or indirectly through our Parish Councillors.

Published: monthly at the beginning of the month.

Cost: £7 a year (by post £12).

Editor: Geoff Gibbens, Field Croft, GL6 7RQ:

g.gibbens@btinternet.com.

Copy deadline: 20th of the month (usually).

Subscriptions: to take out a subscription (first three months free)

SHEEPSCOMBE SOCIETY

All those living in Sheepscombe are automatically members of the Sheepscombe Society and membership is free.

The aims of the Society are to promote and foster a friendly and active community spirit throughout the village. Social events are arranged periodically, including such things as the fireworks on the village green in November, the annual Boules competition in July, local guided walks (followed by breakfast or a pub lunch) and variety performances packed with local talent.

Details appear in Sheepscombe News, Social Scene, and on the village website at www.sheepscombe.org. Events are open to all members and their guests.

The AGM is held in October or November each year, and the officers and committee for 2008-2009 are:
